

SISTER STATE DRIVER LICENSE REQUESTS

Workers may send direct inquiries to driver license bureaus in most states and certain U.S. Territories and Canadian Provinces. Florida requires that their request for driver record information, form D-901, be used. California requires that requestors apply for a requestor code number. An Application for a Governmental Requestor Code Number is available from the Bonded Control Section of the California Department of Motor Vehicles. To obtain driver record information, requestors must use California form DL-254 and include on that form the assigned requestor code number. Forms D-901 and DL-254 are available from the Office of Child Support.

Listed below are driver license bureaus that accept direct inquiries from child support agencies and that do not charge fees. To obtain driver license information from other states and U.S. Territories, submit an FIA-308 to the Michigan Parent Locator Service when the individual's SSN is unknown and an interstate request to the sister state PLS when the individual's SSN is known.

Driver license records for certain states/territories include social security numbers. States/territories whose records include SSN's but do not accept direct inquiries are: American Samoa, Arizona, Georgia, Guam, Idaho, Kentucky, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, New Jersey and Ohio. For states accepting direct inquiries, an indication as to whether SSN's appear in driver license records is provided below. "Yes" means SSN's are available; "No" means they are not available; "Optional" means that the licensee may provide his/her SSN to the Driver License Bureau.
